

Accountability Procedures

In my classroom on the first day of school each student will receive a folder with their name on it. On the inside, one side will say take home and the other will say bring back to school. Also, in this folder will be monthly sticker charts. Students that behave in class will receive stickers. The students that have five stickers by the end of the week will get to get in the treasure chest on Friday. The chart also have an area where I can right the parents a little note saying why their child did or did not get to get in the treasure chest.

Students will also have an assignment book, which is usually provided by the school. At the end of every day I will walk around to every ones' desk and check to make sure they wrote everything down and I will sign the entry.

When a student misses class they will know what to do when they come back to school. My classroom is set up to where they come in, go to their cubby, move their name on the lunch chart and then go the supply shelf. On the supply shelf is little shelves with their names on it and in them is any work they missed. They will have to put that work in their folder.
