

Intro Activity

For my intro activity for the first day of school I decided to do an ice breaker game. Students will sit in a circle on the big carpet. We will use a beach ball and music. I will play music while the students are hitting the beach ball back and forth and when I stop the music the child with the ball has to say something about themselves. We will continue this until every student gets a turn.